REMOTE VIEWING (RV) SESSION CC30

#66 This will be a remote viewing session (edited for security).

For the past few minutes, now, you have been studying a photograph. Focus your attention now on the area designated to you as area X. Relax and concentrate. Focus your attention on area X, and describe the area to me.

#32 Not audible.

#66 OK. Tell me about it.

#32 Not audible.

#66 Tell me what makes you say that, particularly. Tell me the raw data that makes you say that.

#32 Ok. One person...four desls...(phonetic)...entrance... kind of independent...There is a long...this very long corridor...lots of rooms...there's a (not audible) along this...off the hallway are offices...four stairwells... one at each end.

Not audible

#66 Describe this person to me.

#32 has a mustach...very casually dressed...impression of (not audible)...jeans and white shirt...these are all military and they are armed.

#66 Describe them to me in detail.

#32 Get impression...I know...it's ...target...(not audible) Standing guard.

#66 What is it they are guarding?

#32 Not audible.

#66 Ok. Make sure you focus your attention right now, at this moment, right now at this moment and describe the area to me. Right now at this moment.

#32 Hallway, guards...people separated, right.

#66 What floor is this on?

#32 Second.

#66 OK.

#32 (Not audible) small boots

#66 Tell me more about this. Describe the hallway in detail, number of rooms, etc.

#32 About 25. Some people are segregated.

#66 How are they segregated? How are they separated?

#32 Singly,singly roomed.

#66 Describe the rooms to me.

#32 Go upstairs first.Looking for...but I don't see anything. Impression...little bigger than...like offices (mumbling) one...impression

#66 What did you say?

#32 They looked like they were admin offices, before. Quite a few.....

#66 Tell me some more about the people there.

#32 (Not audible)

#66 OK. I have no further questions about the target at this time. Is there anything that you'd like to add about what you've seen?

#32 First impression...rooms were small in what I saw.

#66 You told me about guards on the first floor. Are there guards on the second floor?

#32 Yeah.

#66 What's this front room area look like?

~~SECRET~~

#32 (Not audible)

#66 OK. Now before we depart this target here, I want you to move outside and look outside. Tell me about the entrances to the buildings in the immediate area just outside.

#32 Impression of cement stairs ...entrance way recessed.....

#66 I think it's time we draw the impressions that you've had.

PAUSE

#32 Because it looks so much like a (mumbling) I was looking for an attic.

God I wanted to go CB so bad on this one.

I'm going to start with the face of the building since you asked me. Because it correlates with the position of what I thought were desks. Could be control points. White long building...there shouldn't be four...inside I think I saw stairway on each end...somewhere around here....two somewhere around here. the entrance is Cement steps..cement sides to it...I couldn't find the words...to these..just there...but I could find the words.....to these steps.....why that's important, I don't know. This whatever it was was the walk. This was the entrance (mumbling)

Top view of first floor. I saw four somehow...draw it for you even though that says three.ok. in here... I don't want to call it control point, but, that's the impression I got. I saw one in here too. Next to these were admin type rooms, ok. Whereas

#66 Down on page two here. This is the bottom floor.

#32 First floor.

#32 I got the impression of these ...comes in like this.. or backup.....

#66 Ok.Now we're moving to page three, second floor.

#32 Yes. Very interesting. At first I got the impression there were about 20 rooms, but, the more I looked at

'em the bigger they got. So rather than have 20 you had maybe something like 10 to 12 bigger rooms. Here's a corridor, and these are separated into bigger rooms. What I'm trying to say...they're bigger than bedrooms, than what I've seen before, the cell type rooms; they're bigger. What I saw here...in these area sections, were...didn't see much furniture around here...and these were groups of 10...I'll call them students, whatever.

#66 These groupings down here then, you don't feel were hostages.

#32 Oh, no. No, no. These were student types discussing the philosophy of their actions and the current events affecting the hostages and themselves, their entire situation and what I saw here...he should have had... or I think was.....I got the impression where you should have had 8 or 10 guards you only had 4 or 5 guards; and that these people would come up and talk with them and the 4 or 5 that weren't there were in here talking to them.

#66 Ok. So there was a guard people.

#32 There were some guard people. There was about four or five guard people.

#66 Like in the hallway, or something.

#32 In the hallway, but there should have been more but there weren't.

#66 Ok. Tell me why there should have been more.

#32 Because I saw more doors leading to these rooms where these people are and you should have had more guards; you know..one guard per door, or something.

They felt they could do the job. They had nothing else to do. They were bored....extremely bored. They joined in the discussions here and sometimes they'd relieve these other guys here.

#66 Who was in the rooms?

#32 In the rooms I saw segregated, that was singly almost in most cases they were segregated. The impression I got was these were not the young people, not the young Marines...not the young clerks. These were the older people.

#66 How many were there?

#32 About 15.

#66 So, what you're showing me now, in these individual rooms, and you don't know how many rooms there are...

#32 At first I said 20 and then the rooms got bigger and I had to try and pinpoint an estimate would have to be 12 to 15. Mainly isolated, but there may be one or two rooms where you had two people. I think most of them were segregated. I tried to stay away from the analysis bit.

#66 It is somewhat difficult for you to say how many rooms there are or how many people there are in each room.

#32 Yes. About 12 or 15 rooms. In most you'll find one person. In some rooms you may find two.

#66 Did you get a good look at any one of these hostages?

#32 OK. I kept getting a picture when you asked me who the hell was in there...I kept getting a picture, I didn't even mention that, of a white haired silver haired distinguished looking gentleman and he was around in here someplace.

#66 OK. Why don't you put an X with a circle around it to indicate where you saw him.

#32 He was middle-late forties. Maybe even early fifties. Real diplomat. And these were bigger rooms. Not quite the size of these, but almost and they looked like big conference rooms. They were kind of empty and this is where these people kind of milled about.

#66 It looks to me, that in this session you saw a whole lot at one time, not just one moment in time but, you saw a whole lot of activity passing before your eyes, as it were.

#32 In fact, I was on target, I tried something a little different. Rather than stay with the beacon 'till the last minute and rush to the target at the last minute, I stayed with my beacons and after I felt very comfortable. Which I was this time. I felt, what the hell, I'll go down, make a prelim...and

~~SECRET~~

I don't know whether that was completely right or wrong, but, I was there.

#66 So you were waiting for me on target when we began.

#32 Yeah. What I really wanted to do was get over there and OB. That was just a trial, because, I found a couple of times when I precipitated myself from the beacon to the target, transition was a bit quick, and I would have to reorient myself and this thing was.. these pictures..particularly this stuff here, and this stuff here kept coming on strong, this one in two.

#66 You feel pretty good, then, about this imagery?

#32 Yeah.

#66 Is there anything you want to add to the drawings that you did?

#32 No.

#66 OK. Let me ask you, then, in just a kind of an over review summary of the thing. We have a couple people that sit at desks downstairs, backed up by four or five guards downstairs. Coming up the stairs, then, we have a conglomeration of student types having a discussion in a large room.

#32 Like leader types philosophically involved in the hostages situation.

#66 OK. And there may be ten or 15 of those?

#32 Oh, yeah. They're in groups and they could be in the other rooms, but, what I saw was in one room.

#66 OK. In addition to these people there are also several guards. Maybe four or five guards.

#32 These are assigned. Definitely assigned. Or the impression of definitely assigned. There should have been more, there weren't because they're bored to death. They didn't think it was necessary, so what they did, some of them left to come and participate in discussion.

#66 OK. Now, did you say there were doors? Remember you talking about some of the rooms don't have doors on them.

~~SECRET~~⁶

#32 That was the hallway conglomeration. In other words, this is not necessarily open hallway. Some place around here you have doors. The access is direct. There may be doors. In fact, you probably have several doors going through the hallway. Some of them are open, some of them are closed, but that hallway should be direct, entire length of the building.. Both, first and second floor.

#66 Now. So we have these student leadership types talking over the philosophy of what's going on. Then, we have some guards that appear to be guarding the rooms, and, then, in the rooms, themselves, there may be ten, fifteen, twelve to fifteen possibly, hostage types on the second floor in this building, and they are pretty much, for the most part, maybe one to a room, maybe two to a room, at times.

#32 Yes. And the impression of maturity.

#66 The impression of maturity of the people.

#32 Not talking about the young, young people. I'm talking about functionaries (mumbling) I think he was alone... I got his picture twice.

#66 Would you recognize his picture if I showed you some snapshots?

#32 Yes., yes. He looks like..uh..something like the N (phonetic) command on TV...what's his name.... Residen(phonetic) is it Residen(phonetic)..yeah... white haired guy ..except that this guy would have had glasses that this guy (mumbling)

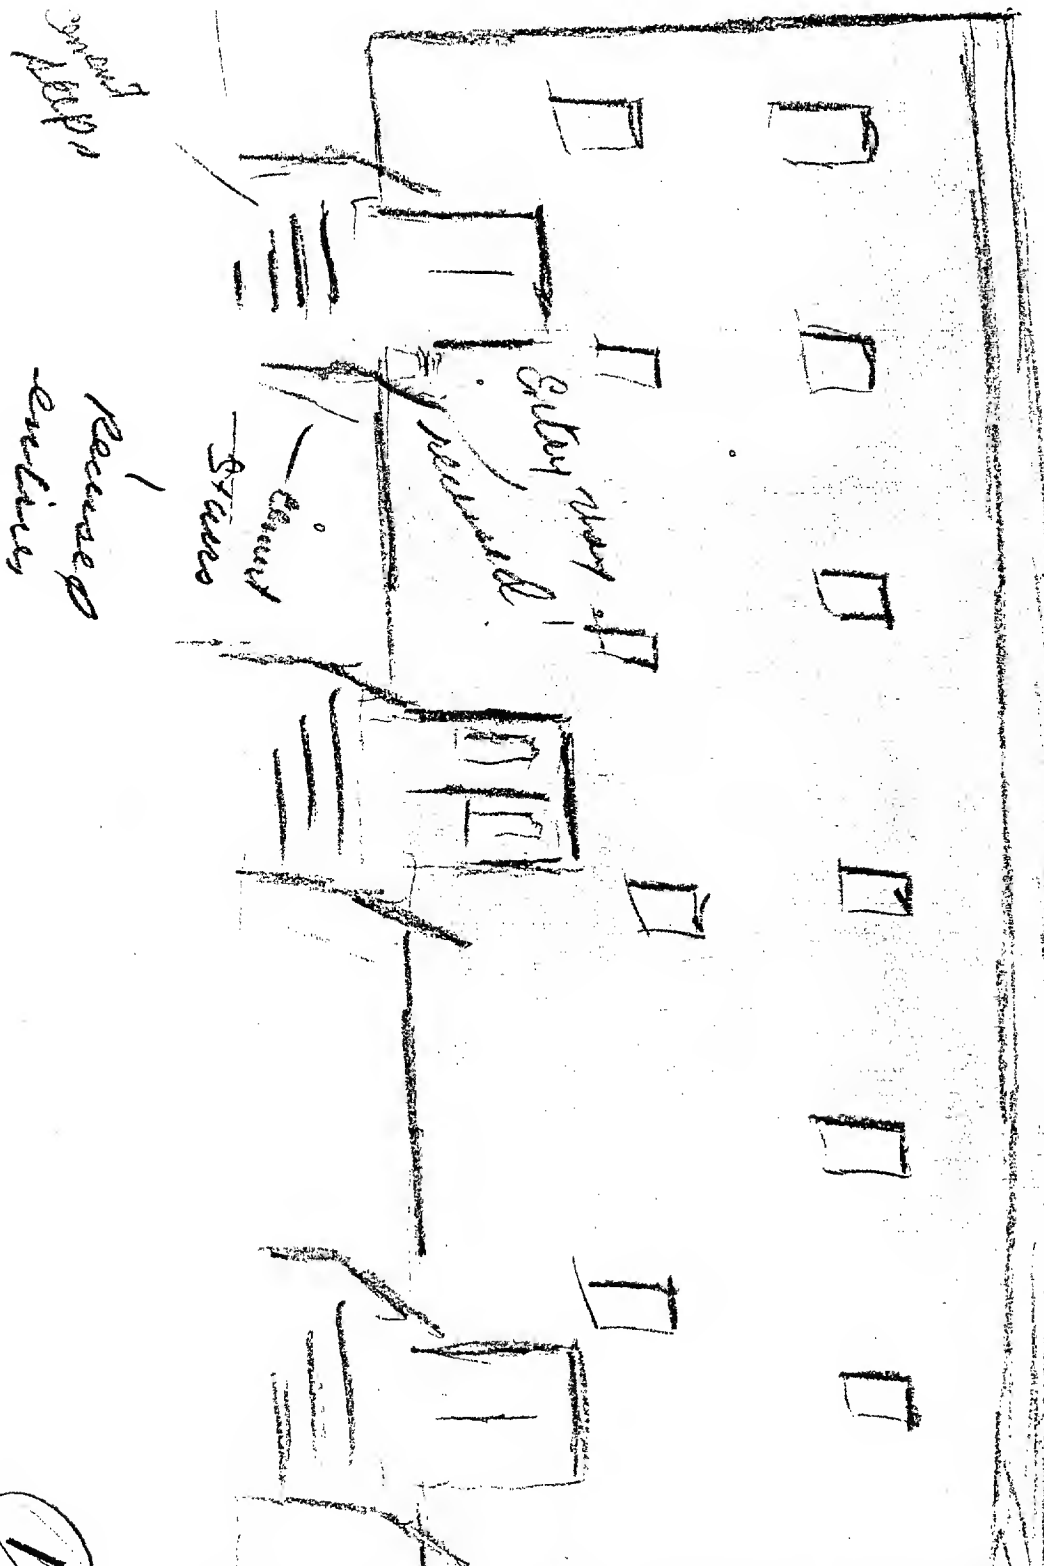

#66 If I was to show you some pictures, you might recognize who that gentleman was?

#32 Yes. If it coincides with what I saw.

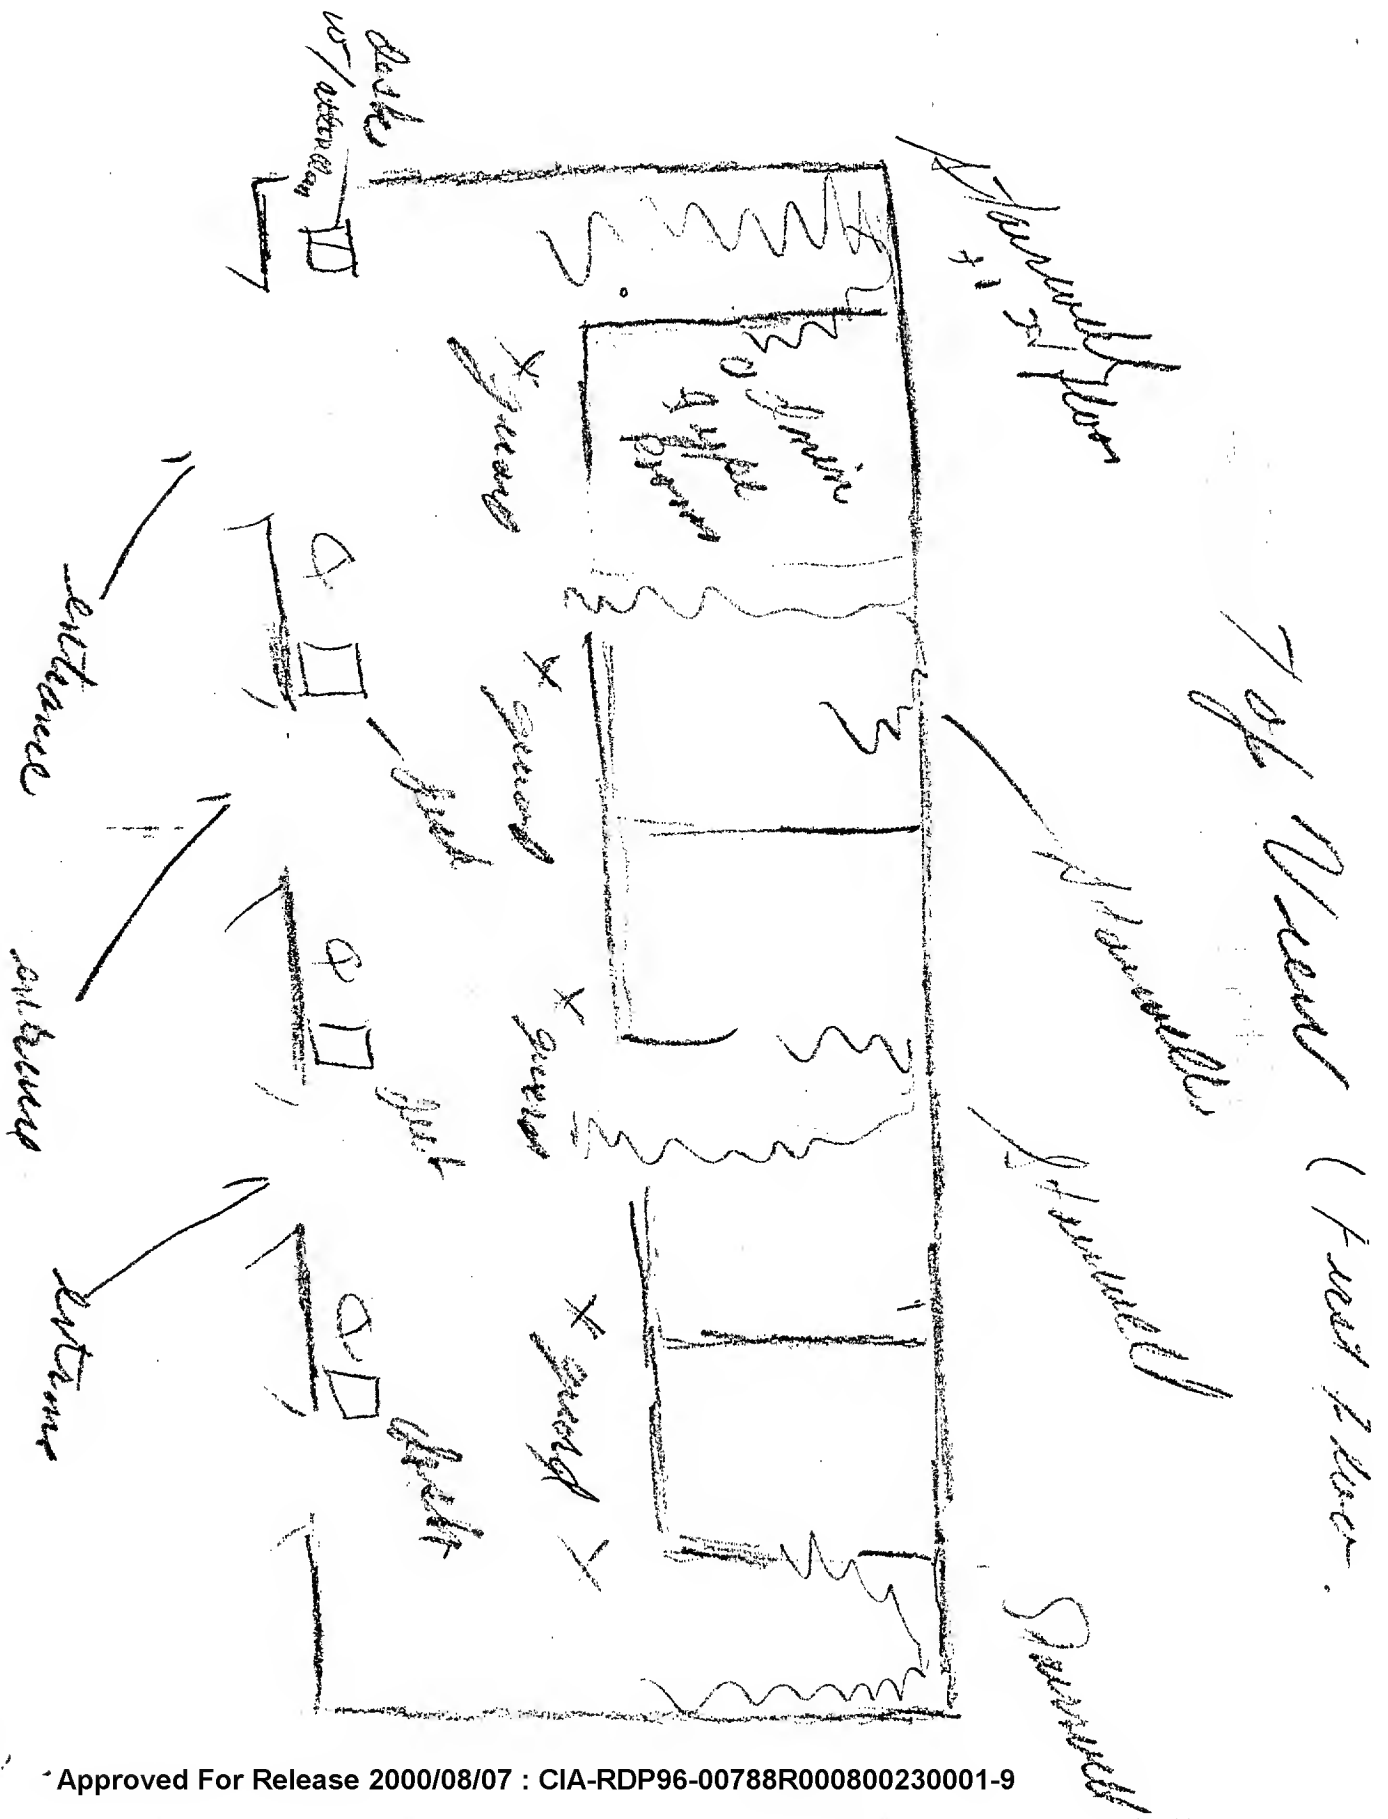

#66 Ok. Fine. Anything you want to add?

#32 No.
